WELCOME TO THE ISAPS OLYMPIAD ATHENS WORLD CONGRESS 2023

It is a great privilege to invite you to join ISAPS' Olympiad Athens World Congress, from August 31 to September 2, 2023. Athens is a truly iconic and vibrant city: steeped in history and yet buzzing with modern culture. Considered a centre of philosophy and learning, the birthplace of modern civilization, and overlooked by the extraordinary ancient Parthenon, this is the perfect place to bring our diverse international community together for an exciting new scientific program format, and just in time to enjoy the end of the Mediterranean summer!

Our innovative Olympiad program concept includes a program decided by and for our members and delegates. Keynote lecturers have been selected by delegates across the last three Congresses as the 'best rated' speakers, and remaining speakers will be chosen through a competitive peer-reviewed abstract submissions process. We have reviewed the most popular topics of the last years and included submission topics accordingly to cover all aspects of aesthetic surgery, regenerative medicine, noninvasive or minimally invasive techniques, patient safety and ISAPS business school. Best papers will be presented in main program sessions alongside keynote presentations, as well as in free paper rapid communication sessions. All presented abstracts will be published in a supplement to APS and are eligible for awards in each topic category.
